The POWER behind the PHOTO

08 - 15 December

ESKİŞEHİR - TURKEY

About the project:

Today's rapid development causes young people to become asocial, indifferent, insensitive to their environment, not thinking and not producing. As a result, a new generation of young people has emerged with reduced talents such as human relations, environmental awareness, personal development, thinking, and a rich perspective. In our project, we will develop the creativity of young people through photography, with appropriate features to develop all these qualities.

Main aim of the Project:

The overall aim of the project is to increase the creativity of young people by solving the asociality of young people through photography and to bring young people together with photography and improve social skills.

Objectives:

- Encourage photography as a hobby by teaching youth to do problem analysis.
- To teach basic information about photography and prevention of young people.
- Teaching young people to think differently, to be able to see, to develop their ideal ideas and to be able to have an interest in reaching the ideal situation.
- To raise the creativity of young people by improving their design skills and imagination.
- To increase self-confidence by improving the expression ability of young people and their sense of accomplishment.
- To ensure that young people contribute to the arts and increase their productivity.
- To increase the image of young people through photography and to socialize.
